

Essential streetcar rail repairs at Queen Street East/Broadview Avenue Intersection March 1 and 2, 2014

504 King Streetcar Route

Starting at 7 a.m. on Saturday, March 1, the TTC will be carrying out repairs at Queen Street and Broadview Avenue to two rail joints on the south-to-west turning track, requiring a diversion for streetcars on the 504 King route. 501/301 Queen streetcar service will be maintained through the work zone.

The entire intersection of Queen Street East and Broadview Avenue is scheduled for complete track reconstruction starting on June 30, 2014.

Traffic Restrictions

- Traffic will be reduced to the curb lanes in each direction through the work zone on Queen Street.
- The south-to-west right turn from Broadview Avenue to Queen Street will be maintained. Some larger vehicles may need to be routed south to Eastern Avenue.

Work Hours

Excavation work to expose rail will be conducted during the daytime hours on Saturday, starting after 7 a.m. In order to complete the repairs in the shortest possible time, and ensure that 504 King streetcar service can resume on Monday morning, some night work may be required.

Transit Service Changes

During this weekend period;

- 504 King Streetcar Route: Streetcars will be diverted both ways via: Broadview Avenue, Dundas Street West, Parliament Street and King Street to route.
- 504 Temporary Bus Replacement Service: will be provided between Broadview Station and the Queen/Parliament intersection via;
 - South on Broadview Avenue, west on Dundas Street, south on River Street, west on Queen Street to Parliament Street.
 - For the return trip buses will loop via; west on Queen Street, south on Ontario Street, east on Adelaide Street, north on Parliament Street, then east on Queen Street, north on Broadview Avenue to Broadview Station.

The TTC regrets any inconvenience resulting from this essential track repair and night work.
